

Resources and Information

The Abuse of Women is a Pediatric Issue

The Contemporary Pediatrics article, If We Don't Ask, They Aren't Going to Tell: Screening for Domestic Violence encourages all pediatricians to let families know that domestic violence is an issue of concern to pediatricians by screening for it consistently. The article outlines specific guidelines for screening and how to manage dilemmas that can arise as a result. The article can be accessed at <http://www.contemporarypediatrics.com/contpeds/article/articleDetail.jsp?id=179967>.

The Family Violence Prevention Fund's guidelines entitled: Identifying and Responding to Domestic Violence Consensus Recommendation for Child and Adolescent Health can be downloaded

<http://endabuse.org/programs/healthcare/files/Pediatric.pdf> or one copy can be sent if you contact health@endabuse.org or by visiting our online store at <http://store.yahoo.com/fvpfstore/healpractool.html>